

The GoingOB Golf Podcast

CHATTING ABOUT THE UPS, DOWNS AND
OUT OF BOUNDS OF THE GAME OF GOLF

A B O U T U S

Welcome to Going OB

Unlike other golf podcasts that stick to stats and swing mechanics, we dive into the side of the game that often gets overlooked – the stories, the personalities, and the real experiences that make golf what it is. Whether it's the highs of a perfectly struck drive, the frustration of a shanked wedge, or the chaos of a badly judged bet with your mates, we cover it all.

We don't just chat amongst ourselves – we bring in everyone from tour pros to club regulars, weekend warriors to industry insiders. Our interviews offer unfiltered insight into the game from those who live it, whether they're chasing trophies, grinding through Q-school, or just trying to break 90.

So whether you're a scratch golfer, a mid-handicapper, or someone who just loves the 19th hole, Going OB is the place for real, relatable, and entertaining golf talk.

HOSTS

CRAIG

A very average amateur.

Consistently a mid to high handicapper but with a love of the game that has turned into an addiction.

DANIELLE

The real golfer on the podcast.

Danielle brings some great stories from her golfing life and is not short of contacts so interviews are packed with great insights and banter.

OLIVER

The youngster of the team.

Oliver is looking to make his way on the golfers with a disability tour and we look forward to charting his success. He has promised us the first interview when he becomes world number one.
